New York City, New York, USA

With the rise of crime in New York City, in 2016 the NYPD started looking for alternative safety options for their officers while patrolling the streets. Previous cop killings, especially that of Brian Moore in Queens in 2014, sparked the research and project.

In January 2017, it was officially announced that the NYPD would invest in a bullet resistant windows and doors project for their fleet of police vehicles. These windows would offer an extra level of protection while police patrolled.

Fasteners Direct was commissioned to provide specialty-made hardware for the NYPD bullet resistant windows project.
